Discussion and Comments:

Commissioner Bookter expressed skepticism because of the length of time and the history of completion.

Commissioner Hoelscher notated that there seemed to be more interest in donations to the Hemphill Wells Building than to the Keyes Building. He suggested the possibility of creating an endowment fund that could be used for maintenance.

Commissioner Floyd commented that there seemed to be more enthusiasm toward the Hemphill Wells Building and would like to explore the possibilities.

Commissioner Easingwood expressed his concerns that the maintenance cost could create too great a burden on the taxpayers because it would be adding another building to maintain.

The motion passed unanimously by the Court.

Re Jarratt Road Subdivision

Dear Mr. Hooker,

We have received and reviewed the plat for the above subdivision. The subdivision consists of a new 5.74 acre tract with an existing residence and the remaining 195.26 acres in farmland. The area is not located in a regulated floodplain and the lot sizes are sufficient size for onsite sewage systems.

All wells must be 100 feet from existing or new septic systems.

All OSSFs in the subdivision must be constructed in compliance with the existing rules and regulations.

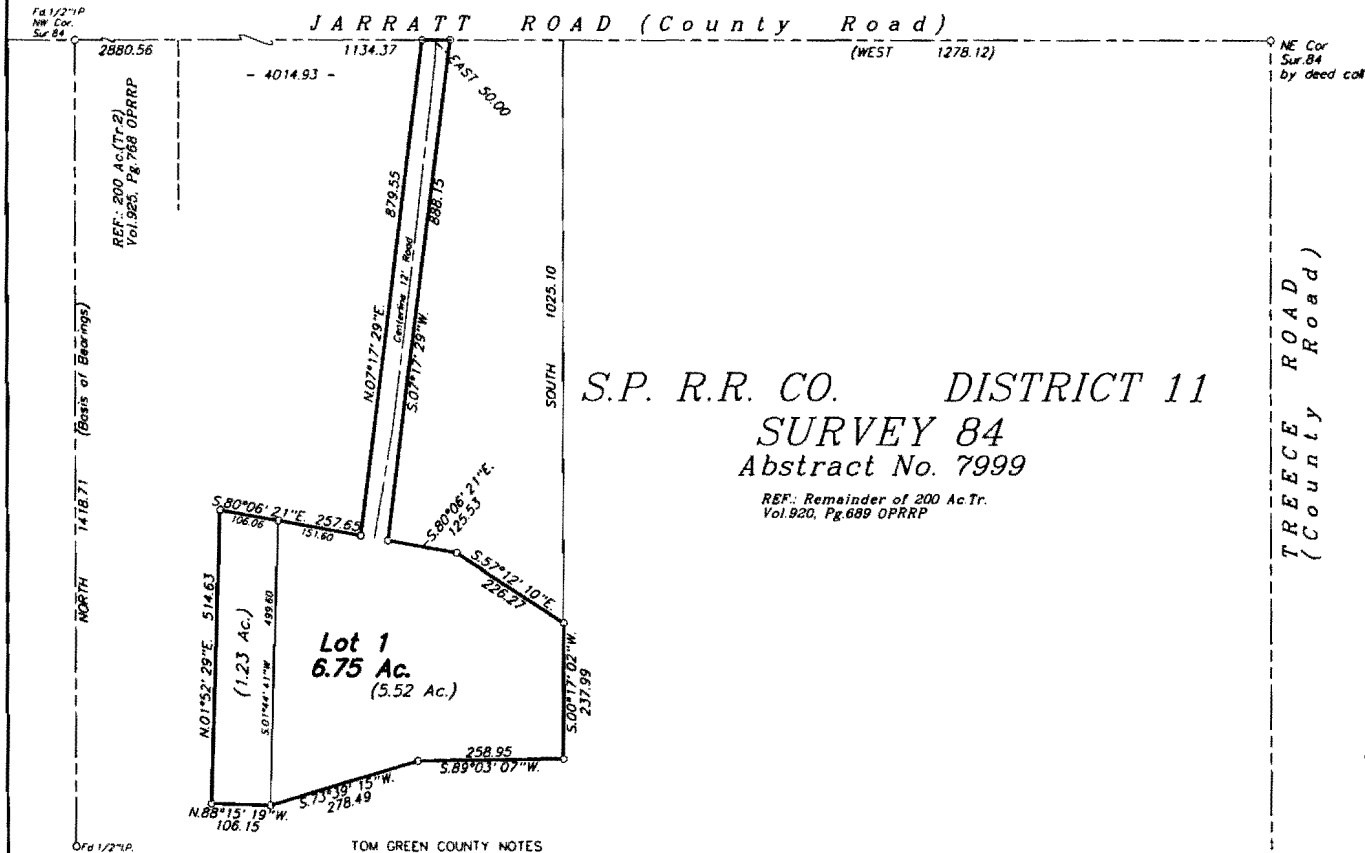

If these conditions are met, this department has no objections to the approval of the subdivision.

Sincerely,
